ROBLOX is a company characterized by its community-based culture. This is reflected in its games, which are generally hosted on the website (as opposed to the product), and as a result, are built by users for users. The developers at ROBLOX have stated that they are completely open to third party development—the only restriction on what is considered acceptable and permissible is that all products must be compatible with ROBLOX's Terms of Service. Whether ROBLOX soft products will be accepted into the Steam platform is still unconfirmed.

In March 2021, ROBLOX introduced "VRChat", a game where players can create their own social VR experiences and attend live events. This game was released as a beta version on Steam Early Access in March 2021. A release on PlayStation 4 is planned for August 28, 2021.

For example, Jailbreak offers a premium feature which allows players to purchase more life points. As the game is free, there is no way for them to gain XP in the traditional sense. Instead of implementing XP via cash or coin drop-rates (as would be done in a game that relies on premium features), they offer more life points as a way to make it easier for players if they choose to purchase them. Free games also don't have an option of offering premium features that modify their economies or XP systems. Therefore, they usually offer only the default system as an option for non-Premium members.

I guess the only reason I still play Roblox is because it's a free game and that I don't have to pay for anything. After all, what's the point of saving up your money if you have to spend it all just to try and get on a game you really want to play? There are many games out there that aren't free like Minecraft, but at least they give you some sort of advantage. For example, Minecraft gives you tools which can help you dig more efficiently and quickly. But Roblox doesn't provide any sort of help or assistance towards the gameplay itself. And it's not like Minecraft was designed with children in mind; it was created for adults.
